Dehydration Talk by Expert Set for Monday Night

Dehydration of fruits and vegetables will be the topic of a talk and demonstration by M. H. Kimball of the Los Angeles County Farm Adviser's office at Torrance high school at 7:30 p. m., April 26.

Dehydration will be an important method of supplying food for our families for this winter. This method of food preservation is perfectly safe and can be done in the home by means of simple home-made equipment. An advantage of drying over canning is that the product requires much less space in storage. Also, most of the vitamins and flavor are saved.

Kimball will have some equipment and specimens of home-dried vegetables on exhibition. He will explain the process and answer questions. This is probably the last time Kimball will be able to talk in Torrance on this subject and he is anxious that all who are interested be there. The meeting is free to all.

Injuries Retire Sergeant Now Here on Visit

It's no fun to be torpedoed, especially if you happen to be doing guard duty on a transport two days out of Baltimore and get the brunt of the blast when the sub missile hits. This is what happened to James J. Jordan, son-in-law of Mrs. Marcella Clays of Lomita, on Feb. 12.

With a badly crushed leg and other injuries, including apparent injury to his eyes caused by gas, Jordan, who was knocked unconscious by the blow, was picked up after three hours in a lifeboat by the Coast Guard and sent to the Army Base hospital in Denver, Colo.

Reports that he had lost a leg were considerably exaggerated, Jordan said. With his wife, Marie, and the couple's 11-month-old baby girl, Marie, they visited in Lomita this week with Mrs. Jordan's mother.

Returning to Job Due to his injury and his dependent wife and daughter, Jordan has been honorably discharged from the Army and as soon as he is completely recovered will resume his work at the Douglas Aircraft plant at El Segundo where he worked on wing assembly before enlisting in the Air Corps as an aerial gunner Dec. 11, 1941, just a week after Pearl Harbor's blasting.

Army physicians at the Fitzsimmons Army hospital in Denver have told him he will soon be all right and he is now engaged in the prosaic but no less serious and difficult job of finding a house to live in near the Douglas plant.

Jordan praises the quick work of the Coast Guard in effecting the rescue of the men from the torpedoed ship. He also speaks highly of the doctors and staff at Fitzsimmons hospital, largest Army hospital in the world, for their excellent treatment and care. While his right leg was badly crushed it was saved by the surgeons.

Guests of Mrs. D. D. Gray of Victor st., North Torrance, are Private Karl K. Gray and Mrs. Gray of Miami, Fla.

Drive Launched to House War Workers in City

Donnell said, are cooperating with the movement, which will mean that a person seeking living accommodations may contact the Center and ascertain what is available instead of having to travel around to possibly dozens of places before finding a vacancy.

The War Housing Center plan has the warm approval of the Torrance War Industries Committee which has reported that their industries are losing opportunities to hire substantial numbers of workers due to difficulties in finding living accommodations.

20,000 Homes Needed Frank Landon, president of the War Industries Committee, urges owners and brokers to make the War Housing Center a clearing house for their listings as a means of decreasing war plant absenteeism, saving of man-hours and adherence to the rubber saving program.

MacDonnell stated it had been estimated that in addition to what housing is now available, at least 20,000 additional homes will have to be constructed in Los Angeles county within the next six months to take care of incoming war workers.

In this connection one of the tasks of the Center is to furnish statistical data to the National Housing Agency and War Manpower Commission as to housing needs. Future home construction in the Torrance area will depend largely upon the degree of cooperation and support given to the local War Housing Center, he said.

BIRTHDAY HONORED Miss Neva June Lowen was entertained at dinner Saturday evening at Redondo Beach when Ted Holloway, U.S.N., and his parents entertained. The occasion was Neva June's birthday.
